

Contents

Editor's Preface Lidia Sudyka	7
Preface Jaroslav Vacek	9

Kālidāsa's oeuvre

Humanising nature – a study in the imagery of Kālidāsa Rajendran Chettiathodi	19
The loving creeper and the tree: Kālidāsa, botany and ancient spells Cinzia Pieruccini	29
Love and ascetics in the Mahābhārata as compared to Umā and Śiva story from the Kumārasambhava Iwona Milewska	41
Kissing in kāvya , with special reference to Kālidāsa's Kumārasambhava David Smith	53
The lament of Rati Mariola Pięoniowa	69
The sixteenth sarga of Kālidāsa's Raghuvamśa Anna Bonisoli Alquatti	81

Descriptions of the ocean

A lexical study of the terms for the sea in the Rāmāyaṇa and in the Raghuvamśa Tiziana Pontillo	103
The sea in ancient India's literary landscape: Pravarasena's Setubandha II, 1-36 Giuliano Boccali	115
Sea images in the Bhāttikāvya with special reference to its sarga XIII Lidia Sudyka	125

Sanskrit prose

From Daśakumāracarita II: how Sleeping Beauty stole the heart of the Thieving Prince

Anna Trynkowska 145

Buddhist literature

Love as an example for 'skill in means' in Buddhist poetic literature

Camillo Formigatti 155

The apsaras-es' image in the Pāli Buddhist canon

Paola M. Rossi 175

Religious and philosophical literatures

The transformation of nature in the aesthetics of Ananda Kentish
Coomaraswamy

Mimma Congedo 195

Love and nature in the Mokṣopāya

Bruno Lo Turco 207

Savouring God: nature, senses, and the taste of the Divine in Indian and Western mystical poetry

Daniela Rossella 223

Tamil and Hindi literatures

Messenger-poems in Tamil poetry

Alexander DUBYANSKIY 259

Bhūmi-bhūśaṇa or how nature should be described. A few glimpses into Keśavdās's Kavi-priyā

Danuta Stasik 275

Supplement

Authors' signatures in early Kāvya

Herman Tieken 285

If you know one thousand śloka-s, you are half a poet. on the akṣara-śloka traditions of Kerala

Cezary Galewicz, Lidia Sudyka

.....

295